Dear Parents

I am writing to share with you a joint project which has been set up between schools and the Lancashire Constabulary to help children who are living with some form of police attended domestic abuse: Operation Encompass.

Operation Encompass ensures that schools are made aware of police attended domestic abuse incidents, prior to the start of the next school day, where there are children in the home. It works with schools to create a liaison between the police and a trained member of staff, known as the Key Adult, to share confidential information which will enable the school to make provision for the possible difficulties experienced by children and their families as a result of an incident of domestic abuse.

Highfield has joined Operation Encompass to ensure that we are continuing to protect and support the welfare of children and their families in our community.

Yours sincerely
